Tips for your child's safe and healthy sleeping

The causes of sudden infant death have been investigated intensively for many years. It is now proven that taking simple precautions in how the child sleeps can greatly reduce the risk of sudden infant death.

These aspects are important

- Your child is safest lying on the back. Lay your child on the back when sleeping. Your child can enjoy lying on the stomach when awake.
- Your child likes to be close to you. Let your child be near you in the room but sleeping in his/her own cot. Your child only likes to come into your bed to snuggle up and cuddle.
- Your child prefers to sleep on a solid base. Therefore place your child on a firm mattress in the cot. Do not use a pillow or sheepskin and make sure your child does not slip under the bed cover with its head and is not covered by stuffed animals or cuddly rags. A sleeping bag is safest.
- Your child does not like to sweat. It is not necessary to dress your child with a bonnet or gloves to go to sleep. Stroke your child's neck with the back of your hand to check his/her temperature. The ideal room temperature is 18°C.

This is how your baby sleeps correctly.

- Your child will suffer from cigarette, cigar or pipe smoke. Ensure a smoke-free environment.
- If your child is used to a dummy, let him/her always have this in bed.
- The recommended vaccinations reduce the risk of sudden infant death.

If you have further questions, please do not hesitate to contact hospital staff, your child's family doctor or the mother/father advice centre.
